We organized departmental seminars to encourage students to deliver seminar lectures which will enhance their skills of expression in front of an audience on a topic of their choice.

Through educational excursions and industrial visits in the Bombay Stock Exchange office, they are exposed to one important avenue of investing their savings in the stock market. They have the opportunity to see the real stock market movement presented by a stock market specialist. Their theoretical knowledge of financial economics learned in 5th semester, will be enlightened and strengthened by this visit.

We take a tutorial examination of Economics general students in viva voce and group discussion mode which prepares them for facing job interviews. Tutorial examination of Economics Honors are taken in various modes as per Calcutta University directives. They prepare a Powerpoint to take demo classes in basic theory papers of Economics. After their presentation, teachers ask questions cordially and try to improve their outcomes in future. In mathematical papers for tutorial examinations, students face oral viva voce to enhance their interview skills. In descriptive papers like Development Economics, Indian economy etc. students prepare a write up reviewing a few articles on a particular topic, then they present their review article in front of Departmental teachers. All of our departmental teachers interact with students collectively during tutorial examinations. This is our best practice because all of the faculties enjoy a good time interacting with students of different semesters.

Teachers of our department are intimate enough to discuss personal and social problems of students and help them solving those problems.

Our department provides textbooks and other relevant reference books from our departmental library to the Honors and General students. We take remedial classes for weaker students of different semesters in between Internal examination and Calcutta University Examination if students ask for.

Another Best Practice of our department is to give incentive to students who secures highest marks in Honours by awarding him/her Tarit Prova Paul memorial Prize donated by our founder Head of the Department Dr. Sila Manna in memory of her inspiration in pursuing
